

The Seasons

Question Topic: Change of Seasons

You have a friend in New Zealand. You and your pal have had some great email exchanges discussing and sharing various cultural aspects and personal experiences with each other. In your last email, your Kiwi friend Daniel was saying how he couldn't wait for the upcoming surfing season and nice warm weather in a month or two. You shared with Daniel how you were looking forward to shredding the slopes on your Burton snowboard in a month or two. It's October (obviously all over the world). You'll be snowboarding in December and Daniel will be surfing. Why? Explain fully why this difference in climate exists.

Your Hypothesis

Design a way to clearly explain the scientific reasons behind this difference